The History of Plantation Preserve

The land on which Plantation Preserve is currently built was originally owned by the City's founder, Frederick Peters. In 1950, Mr. Peters donated 300 acres of his original 10,000 acre tract of land to build Plantation Golf Club with the hope of encouraging the Broward County Commission to extend Broward Boulevard farther west and aid in Plantation's development. Three miles of winding waterways and 5,000 trees were planted providing plenty of challenge to local golfers. Once completed, Plantation Golf Club immediately became an integral part of the life of the community and was considered the center of the Plantation society. Sadly, the Plantation Golf Club closed its doors in 1998 and the clubhouse was later torn down in 2000. For virtually five years, the land laid untouched allowing an abundance of wildlife, including osprey, heron, wood stork and the red-shouldered hawk to settle among the lantana, wax myrtle, live oak, royal palm and mahogany trees and shrubbery.

In 2002, The City of Plantation purchased the land from Panther Plantation Golf, Inc, an H. Wayne Huizenga corporation. From the beginning, the plan was to preserve the wildlife and to restore the golf course and surrounding land to its original Everglades-inspired splendor.

The official groundbreaking ceremony for what was to become Plantation Preserve Golf Course & Club was held on August 28, 2004. Working together, the City's design team and the golf course design firm of von Hagge, Smelek and Baril developed a concept that is unlike any other in the United States – a championship golf course, an outstanding clubhouse, an everglades inspired wetlands area and a 55 acre linear park that contains a 1.5 mile walking trail all within its 213 acre property. From the tree islands dominated by cypress, cocoplum and pond apple, to the wetland marshes filled with spike rush, duck potato and fireflag – everything you see as you walk through the linear park or enjoy the golf course was specifically chosen to create an environment that is similar to that of early Broward County.

After two and a half years of construction, Plantation Preserve Golf Course & Club proudly opened its doors to its members on February 16, 2006, and opened to the general public on February 25, 2006. The beautiful 6,600 square foot clubhouse houses a full-service restaurant and bar, a 150 seat banquet facility and a fully-stocked pro shop for all your golfing needs.

The 18-hole Audubon-certified championship golf course, measuring 7,148 yards in length and playing to a par 72 will challenge beginning golfers and seasoned pros alike. Every hole has been constructed with 3 sets of Men's of tee boxes and 2 sets of Ladies tee boxes for you to choose your level of difficulty. Our signature 9th hole will make your legs shake and the butterflies in your stomach flutter as you give it your best shot at this intimidating island green. Plantation Preserve offers a state of the art driving range and comprehensive practice facilities including a large putting green and huge chipping area. In addition, every golf cart features the GPS system providing each golfer with precise course yardages.

We thank you for considering Plantation Preserve for membership and look forward to welcoming you as our newest member!
